“Science is about knowing, engineering is about doing.”-Henry Petroski. The two quotations given above (both taken from our Top 10 Engineering Quotes) succinctly sum up the difference between science and engineering. They reinforce the idea that science is a tool of engineering, but science and engineering each have their own distinct goals. Science aims to know; engineering aims to do.

The Art of Doing Science and Engineering is the full, beautiful expression of what “You and Your Research” sketched in outline. In this delightfully earnest parody of a textbook, chapters on “Digital Filters” and “Error-Correcting Codes” do not, in fact, teach those things at all, but rather exist to teach the style of thinking by which these great ideas were conceived.
